

ORI Senior Advisor

Steven M. Schlosser

Mr. Schlosser is an executive vice president at Qbase with over 40 years' experience in federal government business. As a co-founder of Apptis, Inc., Steve was responsible for defense and civilian healthcare information technology services, customer service operations and acquisition strategies. Prior to joining Apptis, Mr. Schlosser was group vice president at BTG, Inc. and he also served in leadership positions with Prospective Computer Analysts, ManTech International Corporation, and RCA. He is a registered professional engineer who holds the BSEE, MSEE, and Electrical Engineer degrees from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He has depth of experience and expertise in engineering design and development, proposal strategy, quality management, business operations, and business development.